THE TIMES.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1907.

Legislature aspirants are "bobbing up" the State over. As a people we are not in need of much law, but what we do need we need badly The Jim Crow law to be as effective at depots as on moving trains is of prime importance. Convict labor on public roads is next in value. Executions within the penitentiary enclosure is a matter of private concern. Major Koiner should be given all the assistance necessary to the promotion of his immigration scheme. These may not be all but these are essentials.

What value will the average man place on expert testimony when it is known that it depends altogether upon the fact as to whether the expert is testifying for the one side or the other, as to what his opinion will be? If the genius is for the prosecution then the accused is not insane, but if he is for the defense then he is. If this theory is carried into every day practice of medicine then our sick have poor chance indeed. Something definite should have been agreed on as to diseased minds and diseased bodies.

It does look as though the Jamestown Exposition gates would open on time and that the show would be almost ready for presentation. This is to the high credit of the management, for at S. Louis and other points there was marked degree of unreadiness when the opening day came. Now let us all get ready to go, remembering that though the Exposition is international in scope it is primarily and essentially a Virginia function. The eyes of the world are upon us. Let us do and look our best.

In one of Mr. Cleveland's recent interviews he deplores "needless attacks" on railroads of the country, and in this all sensible and law-abiding people still agree with him Needless fighting and needless working and needless thinking are all wrong. There is need, however, to keep an eye on the great corporations of the land, and when they go wrong they should be made to suffer just as all other law-breakers are made to do.

The Richmond Evening Journal is right in urging that the Corporation Commission will establish the two-cent maximum rate for this State. The public will take care of all retaliatory measures on the part of the roads, such as abolishing excursion on commutative rates, if by any possible chance our Virginia roads should be so foolish and blind as to adopt this course.

Now for summer Normals and summer Institutes. How scholarly the scholars of this age ought to be if it looks as though the old-time vacation would go and that teaching and learning would encircle the year. Something has been said, however, about "all work and no play" which we trust will never apply to any of our girls or boys. Our hope is that it all means progress of the best sort.

The South grows all the cotton, feeds in the vine industry, makes the tobacco for the world and yet Mr. Roosevelt has not a member of his cabinet from the South, and we are told that Booker Washington has more influence with him than any other man who lives south of the Potomac. Brother Lindsay will have to trot out another horse nor mind it be a "dark horse."

The war between Nicaragua and Honduras is said to have started from trouble over a mule. Not the first time that his majesty, the mule, has given trouble—generally, however, it is purely personal and goes out from the heels. But those South American republics are moved to war without much cause.

Our worthy and able contemporary, the Lynchburg News, always a good newspaper, is getting to be one of the best in the State. We have been "watching it grow" and reading it with interest as it increases in interest day by day.

Mr. Fairbanks is "froze up" or "froze out" we don't know which So soon "done for" he, no doubt, wonders why he was "begun for."

Those stock men in New York are frantic in their efforts to produce a panic in the land, but let the people set their faces steadily against the accomplishment of their ill purpose.

Virginia used to be a leader and not a follower. Let her clothe herself in the robes of office and again be Queen of States. Her future can be made as resplendent as her past has been. But she must be inspired with a hope rath er than a memory.

Sec'ty. Cortelyou should feel kindly towards the men who hold the purse strings, and yet now that he totes Uncle Sam's purse he seems to be indulging the "glorious privilege of being independent."

Baseball has the right of way from this time on until the closing game on Thanksgiving day, and what a high old time the "rooters" are going to have.

Corn planters—best on earth at L. E. Smith's. 4-3 07-3t

Would it not be a deed of charity if the Appomattox Opera troupe would give the proceeds of one performance to the sidewalks?

Don't let your chickens eat up your garden when you can buy Poultry Wire from I. E. Smith. 4-3-07-2w

The cold snap has destroyed much of the fruit, it is thought by many We have made diligent inquiry and there are favorable and unfavorable reports.

Death of Miss Zaida Abbitt.

Miss Zaida Abbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Abbitt, who has been ill at her home in Norfolk for three months died last Thursday of bright's disease. During the last few weeks of her life she was a great sufferer and death came as a relief to her from pain. All that skilled physicians and practical nursing could do was done for her.

She was in the 19th year of her age and was a charming young lady. She had many school friends here, together with several friends who came up from Crewe, where she had visited often, and the prominence of the family, brought out a large attendance to the funeral, which was conducted by her pastor, Dr. W. M. Vines, of Norfolk, and Rev. George S. Kennard, of this place. The interment was had at Liberty cemetery Friday evening.

There were handsome floral tributes and her girl friends here acted as flower bearers.

Besides her parents, the deceased is survived by the following brothers and sisters: W. A. Abbitt, of Charleston, W. Va.; W. B. Abbitt, of New York; J. G. H.; and C. J. Abbitt, of Norfolk; Mrs. L. Kelly, of Crewe, Va.; Mrs. J. A. Shelton and Miss Lizzie Abbitt, of Norfolk.

Killed His Wife at Pamplins.

Jim Ford is in jail here charged with having killed his wife at Pamplin City Friday night. It appears that Jim had a row with his wife on the street and gave her a sound thrashing Later that night Jim declares at home his wife struck him with a poker and that he struck her with his fist, and hit her harder than he intended. He says he loved his wife and had no idea of killing her, and was surprised to learn next morning that she was dead. A coroner's inquest was held and the examination revealed two bruises, which we understand, either one of which could have caused her death.

The accused gave himself up to the officers and seems to regret the matter. We know nothing about the circumstances and the evidence may put a very different face on the whole matter. Jim must face the awful charge of having murdered his wife and to this charge he says he hit harder than he intended and that both of them were drinking.

Jim Ford was reared in the neighborhood of Pamplin and it has been said that he served a term in the penitentiary; this Jim denies. He says he has been employed with N. & W. R. R. for some time.

Base Ball

On the ball field here Saturday the home team played a game with Hollins's School, of Richmond. The little fellows were games, and at times played the game like professionals, but our sluggers proved to be too strong for them, several home runs being made. The score stood 16 to 1 in favor of Appomattox. The clever work of Richmond boys was done by the little left-handed short stop. He played the game without an error, and we have never seen a better ball player for his size.

Monday the Va. Christian College, of Lynchburg, came down and made a score of 30 to 0 in favor of the College boys. It is proper to say our boys were not prepared for the game and could not get our regular team together for the game.

Capt. Taylor has cancelled all games, and it is not known when we will have another game here.

A Card.

I take this method to thank the many kind friends who left their own business and came to fight the fire which was destroying so much of my property.

Attention is called to the splendid statement of the State Bank of Pamplin, which appears in this issue.

Mrs. W. L. Fleshman and little daughters, of Bluefield, W. Va., are visiting relatives in the village this week.

There will be services at Hixburg, Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Winn.

We notice that an Appomattox boy, Mr. Paul E. Inge, was married in Washington on April 1st to Miss Clara Mc. L. Hill, both of Richmond. Paul is well known here.

Mr. J. R. Kyle, of Lynchburg, passed through town Friday en route to Buckingham, where he qualified as one of the executors of Mrs. R. M. Davis.

Mertz & Mertz, Washington, D. C. will make you a suit cheaper than you buy the ready-made goods. Write them for samples and blanks if you want a bargain. See advertisement.

Miss Lillian Glenn and Mr. Otis Mathews Gilliam will be married at Walker's Church, Appomattox county, Virginia, Wednesday afternoon, April the 10th, 1907, at 4:30 o'clock. All friends are cordially invited to be present.

Bishop John C. Granbery died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Ashland on Monday. One of the brightest lights of the Methodist church went out with his life.

Saturday night our local talent gave a most enjoyable entertainment at the Courthouse on a good house. All the parts were played to the taste of a queen, and a good sum of money was raised for the Athletic Association.

Mr. Sam'l. Turres, who is employed on the carpenter force of C. W. Hancock & Son, Lynchburg, fell 20 feet from a building there last week, and was considerably bruised, but not seriously hurt. His father, Mr. A. E. Turnes, went up to see him Thursday.

Tom Petty, who hails from Promised Land colored church, is charged by one of the deacons as being a disturber of religious worship. Tom is in jail and is taking the matter in a quiet way. He says he is a hand on the farm of Mr. A. H. Howerton.

The Richmond branch, Pocahontas Memorial Association, met last week at the home of Mrs. D. T. Williams, 210 E. Franklin St, in Richmond, to elect officers and receive new members. The organization of this branch has recently been effected, and has awakened much interest. Mrs. Thomas S. Bocock was elected Regent.

Some time ago, during the month of March, it is alleged that Willie G. Lacey, a pop-eyed darkey from Charlotte, entered the home of Mr. Payne near Pamplin, and not being able to offer a satisfactory explanation, a warrant was issued for his arrest. Willie is now in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury. Willie denies the whole business and says he can prove that he was in Lynchburg at the time he is charged with making the entry.
